PRESIDENT 'S COLUMN

Bruce Kobara,

The second of three nomination sessions was held at the Nov. dinner meeting. One more nomination session will be held at the next dinner meeting. The election will be held at the Dec. dinner meeting after the last nominations are closed. During the first session the nominations were: President: Bruce Kobara, Vice President: Jim Gandrup, Secretary: Michael Ciglar, Treasurer: Glenn Slay, Board of Directors:(two seats need to be filled) Deo Frutuoso, Rodney Misumi, Mark Lauesen and Steve Alciati.

I am sad to announce the passing of one our members, Dr. Lloyd Smith. The club has offered its condolences to the Smith family.

There are a couple thank you's due to some of our club members, Able told me that some unknown club members cut and stacked the fire wood for the club thank you who ever you are. And a special thank you to Art Hiraga for cutting all those tules down along our launch ramp.

We are putting out the construction of the new gate and fencing for bids and hopefully we will have a secure gate on the road to our club. The gate will allow access to club members and keep trespassers off our property.

The drawing for the BBQ pit will be held at the Dec. dinner meeting, tickets are available at East Lake Hardware and at the Dec. meeting.

Januaries meeting will be bring your favorite military firearm, please, no ammo.

Silver Bullet paving has filled the pot holes on our road to the club and paved the launch ramp area, it looks great.

We have four new members to the club; Scott Allen, Ray Erta, Roger Welsh and Brent Wilcox, welcome to the club.

In line with the club expenses increasing the fees for advertising in the news letter will go from $30.00 annually to $40.00 and well drinks and beer will go from $2.50 to $3.00 (still a hell of lot cheaper than any bar in town).

January 3rd meeting Military Gun Night bring your favort military gun to display and show off with pride.

Have a problem or suggestion . Talk to the one in charge like, Rangemaster, Secretary, editor of the news letter, or Who ever is in charge of that.

The first Remington Number 5 bears no resemblance to the new Remington Model 5. The two rifles differ as much as cats and dogs do. The old Number 5 was a rolling-block sporting and target rifle adapted to use smokeless powder ammunition. It was introduced in 1898, initially chambered for .30-30 Winchester, 7mm Mauser, .30-40 Krag, with .303 British added a few years later. The rifle flopped. Only 198 were sold before it went out of production in 1903. That was too bad for Remington but a good deal for anyone who owns a Number 5, as it would be a mighty nice collector's piece today.

Remington Model 5 Rimfire Rifle

It's only necessary to remove the clip, bolt, and one screw to field strip the Remington Model 5. It's shown here taken down one step further after removing the trigger guard. Note the wood screw at the rear of the guard.

I don't think the new Remington Model 5 will suffer the same fate as the old Number 5. Right now, it's a clip-fed bolt-action available in .22 LR and .22 WMR. I have few doubts that in the future it will be able to handle one or more of the .17-caliber rounds gaining popularity. While it wears "Remington" on its box and at the rear of the receiver, you'll find "Zastava-Serbia" above and forward of the magazine housing. Zastava is the town; Serbia a former kingdom of the Balkans and presently part of Yugoslavia.
