Range News

by John Maraldo, Rangemaster

Thanks!

Thanks to the anonymous benefactor who contributed all that cardboard for target backing.

And thanks to Wayne Proechel for buying us a new stapler.

By the way, our range staplers seem to have a very short life expectancy. What do you folks think about requiring shooters to bring their own?

Grip Force Adapter

Some of us have noticed that when we present the Glock with a grip high on the backstrap (as we should) the muzzle is elevated and we must cock the wrist more aggressively forward in order to level the pistol. Here is a solution for the fortunate few who have experienced that problem.

The Grip Force Adapter is a beavertail for the Glock that levels the pistol's natural point. It also enhances control during rapid firing by increasing the firing hand's leverage. And it reduces the chance of slide bite, though the Glock is not nearly so prone to nipping the firing hand as say, the PPK.

The modification is not permanent. The beavertail is held in place by a provided extended trigger mechanism housing pin.

Does Your Gat Smell Like Deep Fat Fry?

Andrew Tuohy (Vuurwapen Blog) hired an organic chemist to perform infrared spectroscopy of FireClean ("a patent pending extreme performance gun oil that provides unmatched reliability and durability for your firearms... that is the choice of the best and most demanding shooters in the World- pro shooters, military special operations, and tactical law enforcement teams.") and Crisco Oils.

And what was the chemist's conclusion? "FireClean is probably a modern unsaturated vegetable oil virtually the same as many oils used for cooking."

The professor also commented on the FireClean's suitability for use in firearms: "I don't see any sign of other additives such as antioxidants or corrosion inhibitors." And if that weren't enough, "Since the unsaturation in these oils, especially linoleate residues, can lead to their oligomerization with exposure to oxygen and light, use on weapons could lead to formation of solid residues (gum) with time. The more UV and oxygen, the more the oil will degrade."

Venturing Crew 568 News

by Joe Yetter, Crew Advisor

Venture Crew 568 is PVRG's youth shooting group, part of the Boy Scouts of America. It is open to youth, 14-21. We meet and shoot on the 2nd and 4th Wednesdays at the range. Contact me (Joe) for more information.

For our September outing we went to Pico Blanco Scout Reservation on the Little Sur River. We ran a muzzleloader range for a Mountain Man Rendezvous. We helped about 100 Boy Scouts shoot.

For our October outing, we plan to go to Panoche Hills, which is BLM land South of Hollister. We will be taking two Boy Scout troops.

Kelly Lake

Kelly lake is low. Use caution when launching boats. The lake at the bottom of the boat ramp is very shallow, and muddy.
